Payments

Month	Payment month	Points achieved	Amount due	Amount paid	Billing date	Payment date

- Monthly payments reflect the amount that is payable based on the number of points earned for Standard and Advanced Workouts in a calendar month.
- Amount paid reflects the actual amount that was paid.
- If you have authorized Vitality to automatically charge your credit card, Vitality will charge your credit card on the 17th of every month for activity ended the month prior.
- The maximum monthly payments will not exceed $7.50.
- Any unpaid amounts will be added to the following month's balance.
- You are responsible for updating any expired or invalid credit cards. Once your credit card has been updated, any unpaid amounts will be charged at that time.
- At any time after your first month on the program, you will have the option of paying off your full outstanding amount. If you choose this option you will be unable to take advantage of any lower amounts earned based on your future Standard and Advanced Workouts. Settlement must be in the same form of payment as your monthly payment.
- For your previous month's workouts to count toward your Apple Watch payments, Vitality must award them by the sixth of the month. To account for a potential delay in awarding, please submit your workouts by the third of the month to ensure we award them in time.
- Apple Watch returns to Vitality can only occur within 14 days of the delivery date of your Watch. Exchanges are not possible.
- With Apple Watch Series 3 with cellular, additional monthly charges will apply through your cellular provider. Apple Watch and iPhone service provider must be the same and cellular connections are not available with all service providers. You can check www.apple.com/watch/cellular for participating wireless carriers and eligibility.

Apple is not a participant in or a sponsor of Vitality Active Rewards.
